Position

The Department of Systems and Operations Management (SOM) at California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is seeking a tenure-track faculty member in Information Systems at the rank of Assistant Professor.

The successful candidate will teach courses related to Cybersecurity and AI applications and have research interests in Information Systems.

In addition to teaching, the position requires weekly office hours, attending faculty meetings, participation in assessment of student learning, and service to the department, college, and university. The successful candidate may be required to teach on weekdays, evenings, weekends, and/or online and will be held to the standards and requirements of the college and department in which he/she/they is/are housed for recommending tenure and promotion. Given CSUN's commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and engagement in a diverse environment, the successful candidate will help the department achieve equitable academic outcomes for all students through teaching, student mentorship, scholarship, and service.

Required Qualifications

- Doctoral degree in Information Systems or a closely related field from an accredited institution by August 20, 2025.
- Evidence of effective teaching potential and/or experiences at college or university level both online and in-person.
- Evidence of or clear potential for successful scholarly research in Information Systems.
- Evidence of effective engagement or potential to engage with a diverse student body.
- At the time of appointment, candidates must meet current AACSB International standards for classification as Scholarly Academic (SA) and must continue to maintain this classification throughout their tenure.

Preferred Qualifications

- Research experience that includes working with students from diverse backgrounds.
- Experience that adopts inclusive approaches to mentoring students from diverse backgrounds.
- Evidence of or clear potential for using culturally responsive pedagogy that leads to equitable outcomes for all students.
- Evidence of or clear potential for creating a student-centered learning environment.
- Evidence of or clear potential for teaching Cybersecurity and AI applications beyond other Information Systems courses.
- Prior teaching experience in Information Systems.
- Evidence of or clear potential for producing successful quality research work in Information Systems, Cybersecurity, and AI applications.
- Evidence of relevant professional or business experience in the field and/or relationships with the business/industry.

Application Deadline

The preferred application deadline is November 30, 2024, and applications received after this date may be considered on an as-needed basis. However, the position will remain open until filled.

How to Apply

Candidates should apply by completing the CSUN online application. To apply and for more detailed information on the application and hiring process, please visit this link: www.csun.edu/careers

Applicants must submit to the website in the section above a letter of application, curriculum vitae, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) statement, and the names of three referees who can address the candidate's teaching, research, and service qualifications. The DEI statement should provide an understanding of the candidate's capabilities to address diversity, inclusion, and equity in support of CSUN diverse student and community populations and should span their teaching, research, and service. In later stages of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide additional materials, including letters of recommendation, professional work samples, and work produced through student mentoring.

At the time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) to work in the United States.
